Proclamation

DESIGNATING DECEMBER 2018 AS AIDS AWARENESS MONTH

WHEREAS, over thirty-five years ago the first documented cases of AIDS brought about an era of uncertainty, fear, and discrimination; and

WHEREAS, HIV/AIDS has taken tens of millions of lives -- and far too many people with HIV have struggled to get the care, treatment, and compassion they deserve; and

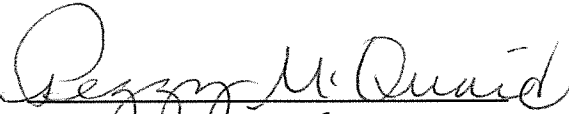

WHEREAS, gay and bisexual men, transgender people, youth, black and Latino Americans, people living in the Southern United States, and people who inject drugs are at a disproportionate risk; and

WHEREAS, people living with HIV can face stigma and discrimination, creating barriers to prevention and treatment services; and

WHEREAS, in the decades since those first cases, with ingenuity, leadership, research, and historic investments in evidence-based practices, we have begun to move toward an era of resilience and hope -- and we are closer than ever to reaching an AIDS-free generation; and

WHEREAS, on World AIDS Day, we join with the international community to remember those we have lost too soon, reflect on the tremendous progress we have made in battling this disease, provide support and compassion to those living with HIV.

NOW, THEREFORE, WE, the City Council of the City of Albany does hereby proclaim December 2018 as AIDS Awareness Month.
