

Community Pop-Up Resilience Hubs Workshop

Sunday, September 25 | 1pm to 4pm
Located at Albany Community Center

Don't wait to find out when disaster strikes. We need your input. Come to our workshop and join your community to prepare for this challenge.

Albany Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) is planning Pop-Up Resilience Hubs in your neighborhood, with financial support from PG&E. Come learn more about the plan to serve Albany residents in case disaster strikes and help your neighborhood determine how the hubs can serve Albany residents during a major earthquake, fire, or other large scale disaster.

Can't Attend? Send an email to AlbanyCERT@gmail.com for a follow-up Zoom session.

Agenda

Presentation: What is a pop-up resilience hub, why is our federal government recommending that communities consider creating them, and how will they work in Albany?

Community discussion: Where are the best places to gather in Albany if a major disaster strikes? What resources does your community need to have in those locations?

MORE INFO:

For a guide to personal preparedness visit www.readyalbany.org
To volunteer in case disaster strikes Albany, visit www.albanycert.org