Brian L. Doss

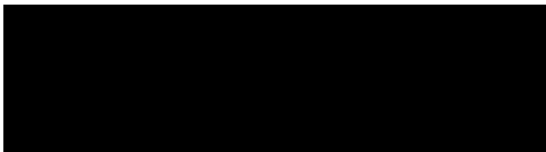

Occupation: Account Executive

My name is Brian Doss. I am running for the Albany School Board. It's an important time to get involved in school board elections. Our schools, safe havens for learning, are facing new challenges. The challenges you hear about in education nationally are happening right here.

I want an education system that encourages intellectual growth and critical thinking. Children should learn how to think independently, not just what to think. It's vital that education remains a place where students can grow and dream.

As a candidate, I am focused on guiding our district towards these values. We must protect our children's educational environment from bias and promote diversity and inclusion of all.

It's a decision that will shape the future direction of our schools. Let's ensure our education system remains a positive force in our country's future. Your choice at the polls this election is a statement about the education and values we want for our children.
